GrindingHub launches Grinder of the Year competition

Major prizes to be won by young grinding experts

Frankfurt am Main, 16 January 2024. – Young talents can now register for the Grinder of the Year competition and put their theoretical knowledge and practical grinding skills to the test. Also to be won, alongside the Grinder of the Year 2024 title itself, are training vouchers of up to 3,500 euros in value and many other attractive prizes. Apprentices, journeymen and women as well as career-changers can apply until 26 February 2024. The campaign has been launched by GrindingHub, the trade fair for grinding technology, in cooperation with the Australian grinding machine manufacturer and principal sponsor Anca. Dr. Markus Heering, Managing Director of the GrindingHub organizer VDW (German Machine Tool Builders' Association) explains: "The aims of the competition are to consolidate GrindingHub's status as the leading trade fair for grinding technology, and also to show how the sector is combatting the shortage of skilled workers by promoting young talent. That is why we are pleased to have found such an influential partner in Anca and are looking forward to seeing the new generation in action." The KSKomm agency from Ransbach-Baumbach is responsible for organizing and running the competition.

The preliminary round of the competition consists of a theory test and two days of training on the competition machine, an FX5 ULTRA 5-axis tool grinding machine, at Anca in Weinheim, Germany. The five best entrants will then give a live demonstration of their practical skills by grinding a workpiece or tool during the GrindingHub from 14 to 17 May 2024 in Stuttgart. Edmund Boland,
