GRINDING HUB 2022

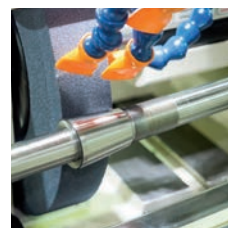

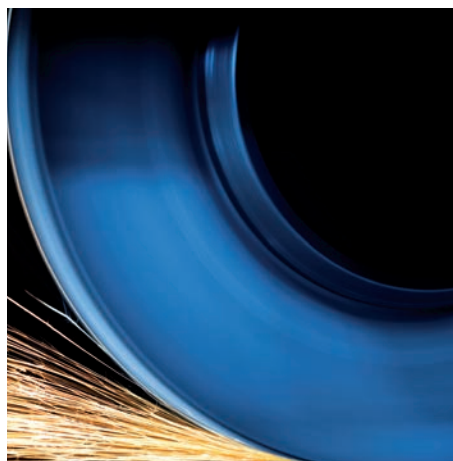

GrindingHub is the new centre for international grinding technology and superfinishing.

By focusing on all aspects of value creation in this technology sector, this exhibition is highly attractive for customers. Centre stage is taken by grinding machines and abrasives. All of the relevant software tools, the process periphery, and the measuring and testing equipment needed for all QM processes relating to grinding are presented, with a focus on the entire production environment of grinding technology..

Focused – fully complemented – complete!

Comment: Jürgen Hauger
Managing Director / CEO at
Vollmer-Werke, Biberach

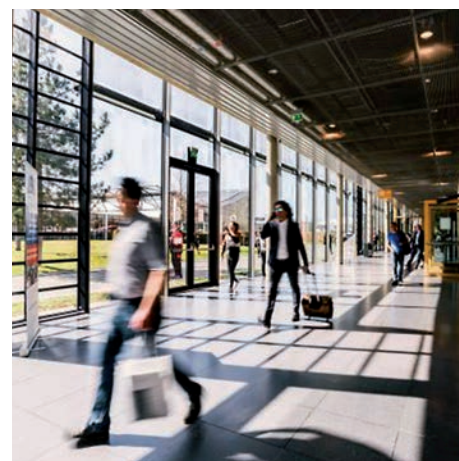

“The concentrated expertise embodied by the organisers promises the best prerequisites for the success of the new GrindingHub.”

GrindingHub will be hosted every two years by the German Machine Tool Builders' Association VDW from Frankfurt am Main, in cooperation with Messe Stuttgart and, as conceptual sponsor, the industrial sector “Machine Tools and Manufacturing Technology” of Swissmem, the Swiss Association of Mechanical and Electrical Engineering Industries.

These are the best conditions for a high-quality exhibition that pilots the course of growth in grinding technologies. Embodying deep reaching know-how for the benefit of the sector and the user industries worldwide, the hosts will be aligning GrindingHub to the current trends and raising its appeal by presenting core themes in the special exhibition area “Grinding Solution Park”.

By the sector for the sector!

Comment: Stephan Nell
CEO of the United Grinding Group, Bern

“We are delighted with the first steps taken by this trio. The sector is growing and needs a showcase in the form of an international exhibition that can present adequately this sector’s expertise and technical innovation. The exhibition concept behind GrindingHub convinced me immediately.”

One indispensable constituent of a modern exhibition concept is its digitised presence, both during the exhibitions' run times and as an active information and business tool between them.

Multidimensional communication on all channels also opens up a wide path to new and future target groups. In addition, the uneven years will see GrindingHub flanked by a web conference as an effective marketing instrument. This means that you keep up to date with trends and innovations for your dialogue with customers.

Greater reach for more leads

Comment: Dr. Wilfried Schäfer
Executive Director of VDW, Frankfurt am Main

"Today, modern exhibition concepts must take the additional step into the web world and provide online content that helps exhibitors to extend their international reach and raise awareness for them."

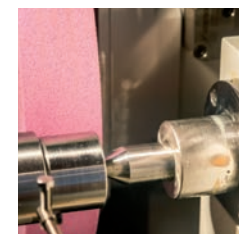

The international alignment, the ideal location, and the broad-based support of associations and leading players in the sector will enhance the impact of GrindingHub and secure for both visitors and exhibitors unique advantages in the competition of the future.

The exhibition's environment, its location, its traffic links, its accessibility, and the convenience of its onsite facilities in Stuttgart are unmatched. One of the world's leading locations for technology exhibitions, Messe Stuttgart is ploughing all of its resources into the planning and execution..

At the heart of the market – in Germany and Europe!

Comment: Roland Bleinroth
Managing Director of Messe Stuttgart

„Representing deep-reaching exhibition know-how, VDW and Messe Stuttgart know how to develop a fully integrated concept, extending over sales, international media-based marketing, the set-up of far-reaching communication channels, and the integration of international media partners.“

GrindingHub is the customer's source of solutions to all challenges posed by grinding technology and superfinishing.

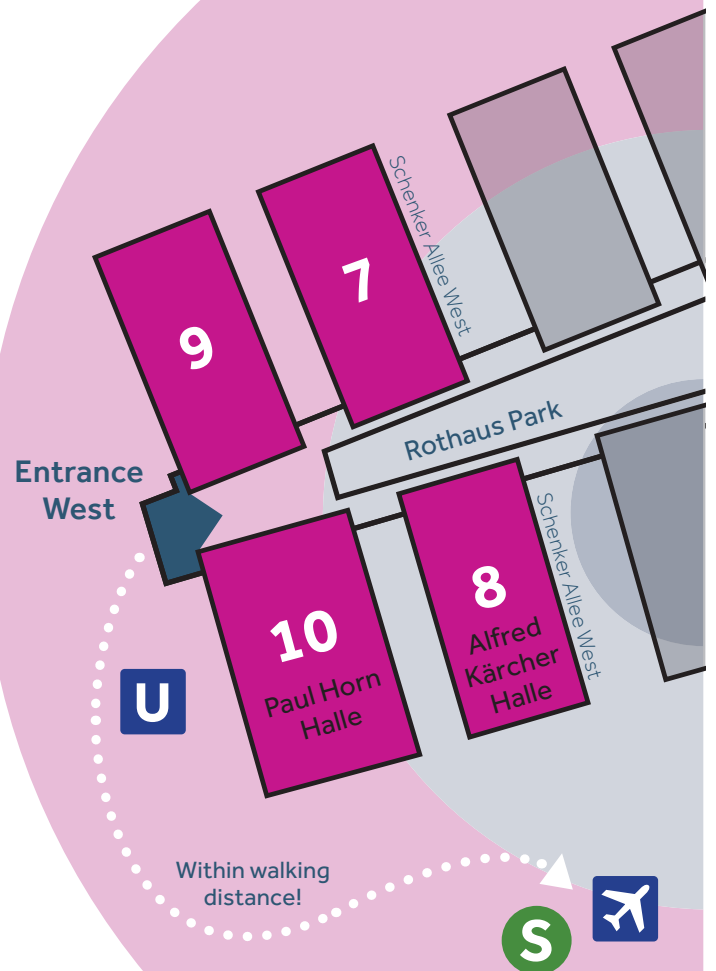

Competent contacts provided by the exhibitors and from the science fields represent all subjects from software to processes and quality assurance, and to the digitisation of business procedures.

Brings solutions to the surface!

Comment: Christoph Blättler of Swissmem

"We are looking forward with pleasure to help set up this far-sighted concept and to the opportunity of offering our experience and ideas in the global exhibition business."
